MAJORITY OF THE R. T. BOARD OF. POSED TO THE PLAN.

F. P. Stoots Rosigned from the Co and a Stockholders' Meeting was Held, at Which a Second Relief Committee was Appointed with Mr. Gleets as Chairman-A Contest of Rival Committees.

The meeting of the Board of Directors of the Richmond Terminal yesterday broke up after a two hours' session, and the result may of the special committee of bankers for rescu-ing the company from its financial difficulties ould be adopted without discussion. A large najority of the directors voted against the committee's report and the effect was, in a

It was intimated several days before the meeting that this would be the outcome, and President E. P. Olcott of the Central Trust ompany had his resignation ready to hand in he moment the result was known. Directly after the Board meeting a meeting of Richnd Terminal stockholders was called at the mond Terminal stockholders was called at the Central Trust offices, representing 240,000 out of the 700,000 chares, and also the preferred stockholders, who have recently been organizing to protect their interests from what they considered the "encrosohments" of the man-

The members of the Board who had voted down the report of the special bankers' committee, it was said, wore in accord with the meeting in Mr. Olcott's office, the purpose of which was to appoint a new committee to take the place of the Schiff-Norton committee to re-The report of the bankers' committee explained that it was essential to the success of the proposed plan of relief that the elections of all the subordinate companies in the Bichmond Terminal system, the East Tennessee included, as mentioned in yesterday's Sun. should be postponed until after the lichmond Terminal affairs were set-tled, and that the subordinate companies should elect boards subservient to the Richmond Terminal management. This would mean, it was explained, that the majority of the East Tennessee Board, Gen. Samuel Thomas included, would have to retire. The second recommendation of the committee was that the several companies should signify their willingness to advance money as called upon by the special committee, to be used in adjusting the Richmond Terminal's finances as the committee saw fit. The plan of the committee, it is said, was to make a considerable assessment on the stockholders, and most of the directors, especially the East Tennessee contingent, were opposed to it. The committee, it should be explained, was appointed at the annual meeting by the stockholders, and it continues until it is discharged by vote of the stockholders.

The only members of the Board who voted for the plan of the bankers' committee were John H. Inman and the friends of the management. A director said after the meeting:

"Most of us thought from the first that a majority of the committee would favor a plan of roller than would be either subservient to Mr. Inman or at least satisfactory to him. Mr. Olooth however, was opposed to the recommendations of his associates, and he concluded to resign as soon as a majority of the Board rejected the plan of the committee."

Hen. Thomas said several days ago that he was opposed to calling in outsiders to run the affairs of the company. He thought that they could take care of themselves, and it was to prove this principle that the second meeting was called at the offices of the Central Trust Company. The meeting lasted only half an hour, and a director was authorized to make this official statement: should elect boards subservient to the Richmond Terminal management. This ally disposes of that committee. He Mr. Oloctt will appoint the committee. He is yesterday that he had not done so yet. It likely that a special meeting of the stock-olders of the Richmond Terminal Company ill soon be called, when it will be formally stermined which of the two committees will be recognized as authorized to handle the nances of the company. The Oloctt Committee will go on and arrange a plan, and an intersting contest is expected when the stock-olders meet. At present it is though that he Inman party controls enough of the stock-oarry the election.

the inmin party contacts shared to carry the election.

In the mean time the annual meeting of the East Tennessee will be held to-day at Knox-ville, and if the agreement for proxies is carried out the old Board of Directors will be elected, thus defeating Mr. Inman's idea of electing a Board subservient to the Richmond Torminal management and continuing the independence of the subordinate company.

WESTERN RAILROADS FINED. The Fight Against the Monon Setting More

CHICAGO, Dec. 15. - Chairman Finley of the Western Passenger Association yesterday imposed two fines, aggregating $256, on the Book Island, for doing a brokerage business and for cutting the agreed rate. At the same time he dismissed a charge of failure to require the signatures of passengers. Two cases in which' agreement were both decided in favor of th road. One charge was that the Wabash last July gave an unauthorized rate to members of July gave an unauthorized rate to members of the Society of Christian Endeavor from Kansas City to Minneapolis and return.

The fight that is being made on the "Monon" to force it to 'discontinue the quoting of short-line rates between Kansas City and Cincinnati, via Chicago, is a windfall for the ticket brokers. In order to get a share of this business the "Monon" agreed to redeem at full tariff rates any of the "round-about" tickets found in the hands of Chicago brokers. Large numbers of these tickets have been secured by scalpers, probably through the aid of the lines that are fighting the "Monon," and a handsome profit is realized on every one redeemed. General Passenger Agent Barker says his enomies are trying hard to drive him out of the Trans-Mississippi and Missouri liver business, but that they will not succeed.

A Two-story Boad for the Illinois Central. CHICAGO. Dec. 15.—A movement is under way to build an elevated road over the tracks of the Illinois Central as far south as the World's Fair grounds at Jackson Park. A majority of the American stockholders of the Illinois Central Railroad Company apprope the plan, and have sent an agent to Europe to lay it before the foreign stockholders, who control the road. It is proposed to build the elevated tracks around the World's Fair grounds, and also a network of lines in the southern part of the city. The scheme includes the purchase of the town of Lake franchise, owned by the Equitable Transportation Company. Several of the New York stockholders of the road have looked over the ground and are in favor of the project. The Illinois Central already has more suburban traffic than it can conveniently handle, and it is believed that this plan will greatly increase its facilities. It is said that President Fish is opposed to the project, but the New York stockholders are pushing it and will put it into execution if the consent of the foreign espitalists can be obtained.

PRINCETON ON THE WATER.

A Strong Movement to Organize a Crew at the College. PRINCETON. Dec. 15.-A notice was posted on the bulletin elm on the Campus yesterday which stirred up great enthusiasm among the students. It called upon all those who thought of trying for "the crew" to attend a meeting in the faculty room at 7 P. M. All day crowds of students gathered around the bulletin elm and read the notice. The probability of Prince-ton being represented on the water fired the spirit of the undergraduates, and all applauded the project. The notice, however, was posted by mistake, and at 6 o'clock it was announced that the meeting would be postponed. Harold G. Murray ested in getting up a crew. P. F. Leach, post-graduate, ex-President of the University Track Athletic Association, is also interested. These men have conferred with several well-known alumni who wish Princeton to have a crew and be represented in all branches of athletics. William H. Addicks and Dr. J. M. Taylor of Philadelphia, both of whom are Princeton ex-crew men are giving the movement their strongest support.

The Jona Boat Club of Philadelphia has of-ferred to Princeton the use of its club house. crew men are giving the movement their strongest support.

The long foat Club of Philadelphia has offered to Princeton the use of its club house. The meeting announced to have been held tonight will take place in about two weeks. The athletic men here are of the opinion that their efforts will succeed better by having a few of the alumni present to address the meeting and suggest the best methods of organizing a crew and providing rowing facilities. The only place to practice now is the canal. about a mile from the college. For some weeks past one of the professors of the scientific school has been studying the possibility of flooding the low lands this side of the canal. It has been found that this cannot be done, as there is no water except the canal as high as the water level that would be required to row on. The canal company would not allow the ground to be flooded from the canal. If a sufficiently high source of water could be had a lake two miles long by onequarter of a mile wide could be formed. In the mean time the crew that is to be organized in a few weeks will row on the canal five days a week and on Baturday will go to Philadelphia and practise on the Schuylkill River. This will give them experience on the rough water. H. G. Murray, who has been spoken of as temporary Captain, said this evening: "I think we are all conscious of the difficulties that lie before us. These are chiefly lack of experience and of rough water, but we have that which will largely surmount these difficulties, namely, Princeton grit, bone, and muscle. To put a crew on the water which should be a winning crow, we must commence to train immediately after the holidays.

"A prominent coacher says he is willing to take the crew in hand at the opening of the season and see what can be made of it. Several constitutional kickers think our efforts will be a failure because Princeton none had a crew which was a winning one, but was compelled to disband for lack of rowing facilities, such was not the case, however. I regret to say the will be a failure because Princeton once had a crew which was a winning one, but was compelled to disband for lack of rowing facilities, sluch was not the case, however. I regret to say the death of that crew was due to mismanagement. Princeton is represented in every branch of athletics, with the exception of rowing. For this reason alone, if for no other, she should have a crew. Princeton's position in athletics is an envisible one. We are the champions of college baseball, and, unless I am very much mistaken, we will be the champions in football next year. My idea of the method of practice is to work daily in the gymnasium on sliding seats until the boating season opens. Then to row daily on the canal, excepting Saturdaya on which day we would go to Philadelphia. By this method we ought to be able to turn out a crew which will do honor to the orange and black. With the faculty, the alumni, and the sentiment of the students backing us, we should try our best to rovise this branch of college athletics. Now, or never, is the time for Princeton to have a crew, and I sincerely hope every man in Princeton will give his hearty, aid and cooperation to our Princeton erew. There is plenty of rowing material in the college out of which a Captain could select a strong crew."

The ath meant and that she had been told how to answer the questions put to her as to what would become of her if she did not tell the truth. She said that one day she went with her 12-year-old sister to Dr. Palmer's house when he was there alone. The dentist behaved improperly. He gave her 25 cents, and told her not to say anything to her papa or mamma. She and her sister went one night to a butcher shop on the Shore road, and after leaving the butcher shop the went into Snyder's grocery. The dentiwas sitting in the store reading a paper when they entered. He went out when he saw then come in, and walked up the road toward his house. She and her sister left the store a few

She saw the doctor shead, and told her sister she was afraid of him. Her sister told her not to mind him, and they proceeded. The doctor stopped near the chapel door of the neighboring church and walted for them to come up. Then she says the doctor took hold of her by the arm and asked her to be his girl. She and the doctor walked along to an electric light pole, where she says improper proposals were made to her, which she rejected. After a while she went home and Dr. Palmer went to his home, telling her not to say anything to her mother. Her subsequent testimony told how the dentist had wronged her.

Lawyer Mullen, in his cross-examination for the defence, asked the girl if she could write. She said yea, and pencil and paper were given to her. Counsel dictated to her as follows: "Have you seen Henry to-day?" When you see Henry tell him me want a kiss." &c. Counsel cliented to her as follows: "Have you seen Henry to-day?" ACCUSED STUDENTS REINSTATED.

The Hazers of the State Normal School Get Of Without Punishment.

CORTLAND, Dec. 15.-Directly after chapel this morning the twenty-three State Normal School students who had been suspended for last Wednesday's hazing faced Prof. Cheeney to hear his decision as to whether they should be punished for what they had done. They be punished for what they had done. They sat in their customary seats in the chapel, and behind them were a dozen of the women students, who had expressed their sympathy with the hazers. Each of the girls had in her hand a paper giving notice of her withdrawal from the school. They had resolved that if the hazers had to go they would go with them. These were the women who had scoepted as escorts the hazed students.

The accused students expected that an apology would be demanded, and had resolved that under no circumstances would they make one. But Prof. Cheeney did not accuse them of any ungentlemanly conduct. He merely said that their conduct was that of schoolboys and reinstated them.

A Murderer in a Vessel's Hold Whom the Police Hestiated to Tacking

LONDON, Dec. 15,—A peculiar state of affairs exists on board the Italian bark Emanuelo Mainetto, which arrived at this port on Saturday last from Rangoon. Capt. Rixig, her mas-ter, upon her arrival immediately notified the police that he had a murderer aboard, but that it was impossible for any of the crew to get at him.

The Captain said that after the bark has been out nearly three months the members of the crew, who were all Italians, became involved in a quarrel. The sailors drew their sheath knives, and a general stabbing and slashing affray occurred. One of the sallors struck the man nearest him a blow with his knife in the body, and he fell dead on the deck. This stopped the fighting, and the Captain's orders that the murderer be secured, placed in irons, and looked up below decks were readily beyed. The murderer was kept in close consucceeded in ridding himself of his handouffs finement until Nov. 4, when by some means he succeeded in ridding himself of his handouffs and escaping from his prison. He took refuge in the hold. Here he piled up part of the cargo to form a barricade, and, though the officers and crew tried in every way to disloded him, they could not do so.

The bark's cargo did not reach to her deck beams, and the fellow had practically the run of the hold. He had access to the ship's stores, and here he procured a plentiful supply of food. From the carpenter's tools in the forepeak he obtained an auger, and with this he bored holes alongside the hatch-combings, and when it rained he would catch and preserve the water that trickled through. It was decided it would be safer to leave him alone until the ship reached port. Much anxiety was felt lest he should take it into his head to bore a hole in the ship's side and scuttle her and drown himself and all on board rather than to face the penalty of his crime.

As soon as the bark was in dock police assistance was asked for. The police thought they would have little difficulty in capturing the man, but when they attempted to put their plans into effect they found them as futile as those of the bark's crew. From Saturday until to-day they have been trying to devise means to get him from behind his barriesde, but he is still in a position where be cannot be reached except at the imminent risk of life. The work of discharging the vessel has begun, and it is expected that enough of the cargo will be removed to-day to allow the police to capture the man.

Leier.—The police were prepared to take rescaled except at the imminent risk of life. The work of discharging the vessel has begun, and it is expected that enough of the cargo will be removed to-day to allow the police to capture the man.

Laisr.—The police were prepared to take desperate measures to overpower the murderer when he was forced to abandon the place in which he had taken refuge. They were greatly surprised when, after a large quantity of cargo was taken out to-day, the man appeared and surrendered himself. The reason for this action was plainly visible in the murderer's face and figure. He was ghastly pale from his long confinement in the ill-ventilated hold, and he was emaciated, and it was very evident that he did not have strength enough to make him dangerous. The bark's storeroom had been emptied of its contents just before the vessel went into her dock, and the result was that it was impossible for him to get anything to eat. He had not tasted food for two days, and he was so near death from starvation and from breathing the foul air of the hold that it was necessary to take him to a hospital. As soon as he sufficiently recovers he will be sent to Italy for trial on the charge of murder.

SOLD THE SECRET OF MELINITE. The Armstrong Company has Not, However

Paris, Dec. 15.-In June last MM. Tripone, Fasseler, Turpin, and Feuvier were each sen-tenced to imprisonment, fine, and deprivation of their civil rights for selling the secret of the manufacture of melinite, the new French explosive, to the Armstrong Gun Company. Tri-pone, who was an officer in the French terri-pone, who was an officer in the French territorial army, was also an agent for the Armstrong Company. Turpin was the inventor of melinite.

The Genio's to-day says that experiments have been secretly made in England in the manufacture of this explosive according to the processes divulged by the convicted men, and that they have been complete failures. The natural deduction is that when the Frenchmen gave the formula and processes for the manufacture of melinite to the great English gun-making firm they did not give the details with sufficient clearness to allow a foreign company or power to take advantage of the new French invention. This fact may have an important bearing on the appeal the LONDON, Dec. 15 .- At Leeds, to-day the trial of Stockwell, the murderer, took place and resulted in the conviction of the prisoner and his sentence to death. Stockwell's crime was the killing of a servant in an inn in the out-skirts of Leeds. The girl had been left alone in the inn and was found dead, with her throat cut, on the return of the housekeeper. Stockwell was suspected, more on account of the fact that he had disappeared suddenly than for any other reason. He was searched for by large bodies of citizens and officers for several days, but managed to slude his pursuers. Finally, however, hunger led him to go to his mother's house in the night, and here he was induced to confess, and the stricken mothe fulfilled her sense of duty by informing the authorities of his whereabeuts. He had unauthorities of his whereabeuts. He had undergone great sufferings during his days and nights of hiding in the swamps and woods, where he had several times been within a few feet of those who were seeking him.

The murder was committed on the impulse of the moment, apparently, because the girl rejected his advances. Insanity was the pleaset up in his defence, and it was proved on the trial that Stockwell's grandmother, mother, uncle, and sister had at one time or another been confined in lunatic asylums. The fact that there was no trace of insanity visible in Stockwell himself, according to his looks and acts, brobably prevented the pleaset up in his behalf from convincing the jury of his irresponsibility, but it is believed that the Home Secretary will take a broader view of the matter and commute the sentence to imprisonment for life.

Miss St. John Gots a Separation

LONDON, Dec. 15.—Although the jury in the St. John divorce case yesterday decided that Mr. Marius had not been guilty of cruelty to his wife, and that Miss St. John had not been his wife, and that Miss St. John had not been guilty of the acts of infidelity charged against her by her husband, thereby rendering a decree of divorce impossible. Miss St. John is determined not to again live with her husband. To-day her counsel. Sir Charles Bussell, applied to Justice Jeune in the divorce division of her Majesty's High Court of Justice, before whom the divorce case was tried, for a judicial separation for Miss St. John, Justice Jeune granted the application, and the couple are now to a certain extent free. The Court ordered that Miss St. John and Mr. Marius each pay their own costs in the action and counter-action brought by them for divorce.

A NEW SITE FOR COLUMBIA

THE TRUSTERS HAVE AN OPTION ON BLOOMINGDALE ASYLUM GROUNDS.

About Twenty Acres Offered to the College for $3,000,000 President Low Says the Subject Will Be Carefully Studied,

The annual dinner of the Alumni Association of Columbia College was held last evening at the Hotel Brunswick. In the absence of Prof. Van Amringe, the President of the association, the Vice-President, Mr. George G. De Witt, Jr., presided. About 160 of the Alumni were present. On the right of President Low sat Mr. Edward King, President of the Harvard Club; Mr. Chauncey M. Depew. President of the Yale Alumni Association, and Mr. James W. Alexander, President of the Princeton Alumni.

After the dinner President Low addressed About All That to Definitely Known Is that He to Back in His Old Province. the Alumni upon the question which has been uppermost at Columbia for the last few Panni, Dec. 15.-Private despatches have been received in this city from Africa which say that Emin Pasha has had several bloody conflicts in the Lake district, and that his position is precarious. Dec. 7, which resulted in sources regarding the movements of Emin. On Dec. 3 the Berliner Tageblatt published ex-tracts from a private letter dated "Victoria the passage of resolutions by the trustees, au-thorizing the committee to accept a six months' option from the New York Hospital on land now occupied by the Bloomingdale Asy-lum. Emin Pasha, it was said, had been received with the greatest enthusiasm by the troops who had served under him when he was Governor of the Equatorial Province. It was said further that when the news of Emin Pasha's movements reached Uganda Capt. Lugard, a British officer, with 1,000 troops, started to oppose his further advance. It may be that this force has come in conflict with Emin's soldiers and it is to these engagements that the Paris despatch refers.

The Tageblatt said that Emin would have a force of about 9,000 men, and that he would have at his disposal 1,600 breech-loading and 7,000 or 8,000 muzzie-loading rifles. With such a well-armed and devoted force at his command it seems hardly probable that his position can be very precarious. lum. This action does not indicate that the trustees desire to move the college to this site, neither does it indicate that the price named in the option represents the judgment of the trustees as to the value of the property to Columbia College. It does indicate, however, a very serious purpose on the part of the trustees carefully to consider the question in all its details in the hope that after such a study of it the wise course of action will be clear.

The land covered by the option lies between Tenth avenue and the Boulevard and extends from 110th to 120th streets. The tract comprises a little less than twenty acres and contains an area two and one-half times as great as Madison Square. The price named in the option is $2,000,000."

After speaking of the possibilities of Columbia's becoming the greatest university of the American metropolis. President Low made an appeal to the alumni and to the people of the city to help Columbia carry out this scheme. After President Low's speech three hearty college cheers were given for him by the assembled alumni.

Bander, Matthews spoke on the subject Twenty Years' Changes at Columbia.

Blahop Seymour of Illinois spoke in place of his classmate. Frederic R. Coudert, and following him came Mr. King, Mr. Depew, and Mr. Alexander. The college give club enlivened the evening by singing Columbia songs. trustees desire to move the college to this site.

THE PEDERATION OF LABOR. Women Delegates Allowed to Speak but

Brammeiram. Dec. 15.—The morning session of the American Federation of Labor developed a spirited and protracted debate. The Pittsburgh job printers have been engaged in a strike, and Delegate C. A. Williams made a motion that $3,000 be appropriated to the printers to carry the case of conspiracy against them in that State to the Supreme Court and to the United States Supreme Court if necessary. Nearly every speaker favored the appropriation, and the conspiracy laws of Pennsylvania came in for unmeasured condemnation. President Compers finally stopped demnation. BIRMINGHAM, Dec. 15.—The morning session demnation. President Gompers finally stopped the debate by announcing himself as the the debate by announcing himself as the watchdog of the Treasury. He said if this beginning were made there would be no end to appropriations. The matter went to the Committee on Resolutions. A large part of the afterneon session was devoted to the two women delegates.

Mrs. Eva McDonald-Valesh. State Lecturer of the Minnesota Farmers' Alliance, sought admission as representing the Saleswomen's Association of St. Paul. The right to talk was given to her, but not the right to vote. She read an appeal in behalf of working women. Miss I. M. Van Etten of New York made an address on the same topic.

The convict question is coming in for a large share of attention. Numerous resolutions have been referred to a special committee composed of Messrs. McGuire. Poe, Valentine, Devaux. and Harding. The Pacific coast contested delegates will probably be admitted.

Relegate Skeffington of Boston lost his temper when another delegate introduced a resolution "by request" which related to the shoemakers. He wanted it understood that he was there to look after the Boston end of the shoemaking trade.

Tammany will hold its primary elections a week from next Tuesday. The date was set by the Committee of Twenty-four at a meeting in the wigwam yesterday. The delegates to the General Committee will meet for organization on Jan. 5, and the district committees on Jan. 15. The Committee on Organization meets to-night and the General Committee on meets to-night and the General Committee on responsible place. Later he was appointed meets to-night and the General Committee on Friday night, and will ratify these dates.

Owing to the steady growth of the Tammany organization, a large number of delegates to the General Committee has been deemed necessary, and about 500 additional representatives will be elected this year.

The district committees will also be largely increased. It was suggested at the meeting yesterday that the great size of the Nineteenth and Twenty-third districts would make a division of them advisable in order to lessen the responsibility of the leaders. Leaders McMahon and Gilroy objected to the division, and the matter was laid over.

The unexpected defeat of Tammany in the Twenty-second district may lead to the selection of a new executive member in place of ex-Judge John McQuade. Charity Commissioner Edward C. Sheeby may be selected if he moves into the district. It is likely that either Sheehy or Lawrence Delmuur will be the new leader if a change is made.

MR. DUFFT'S GOOD-BY.

He to Tired of Republicanism, Reportally the Thirteenth District Kind. James King Duffy, who for many years has been one of the most strenuous Republican workers in the Thirteenth district and who has stood manfully by the Wicked Gibbs, resigned yesterday as a member of the organiza-tion. Mr. Duffy says he is disgusted with Republican politics in the district and that he intends to join Tammany. The recent combination between Gibbs, Cowie, and Sprague was too much for him. He says:

I have no apology to make for severing my relations with a party whose wells of inspiration spring from the high example of a Platt and whose orbit is bounded by his saidab will.

Mr. Duffy has been Chairman of the District Committee and President of the Union Republican Club.

The Wicked One said last night:

Mr. Duffy was a most valuable member of the Republican organization, and was the best clerk we ever had. He resolved to resign nearly a year ago, and he leaves with our best wishes for his future welfare."

PRURITUS 15 YEARS

Under Doctor's Treatment Four Dife ferent Times. No Relief Whatever. Cured by Cutleura.

I have used the CUTICURA REMEDIES and found them to be just as you represented. They have given me a perfect cure. I have been troubled with pruritus for over fifteen years, and have been under the doctor's treatment four different times, with no relief whistever, until I tried the CUTICURA REMEDIES. After using them just one week, I found that life was not such a burden after all, and am satisfied that I shall never be troubled again. Such faith I have in your remedies. You can send any one that is troubled with pruritus, and I will satisfy them what it has done for me. I will not restrict you from publishing this communication, but would rather not. The remedies are so good that it would be rather selfish in me not to speak of their good qualities.
